Tropical Hurricane Sweeps Gulf Coast

Students Dismissed For Two Weeks

The Tropical hurricane that played hide and seek in the lower Carribean for almost ten days hit Florida then struck across the Gulf with all its fury. From Pascagoula to the lower extremities of Hancock County, there is hardly a home or building of any kind that did not feel the effects of the worst storm that has ever hit the Gulf Coast.

As the barometer started to fall early Friday morning of the 19th of September, the wind and rain increased until about 7:30 when slates from the college roofs rained on the campus and swung dizzily into the gallery openings. The students were at breakfast when the wind arose to sucr force that they were unable to get back to the study hall except by passing through the Chemical laboratory windows.

Inasmuch as the wind had increased in intensity, Brother Peter had all the boarders in the Big Study Hall and in the two laboratories. There they remained for the greater part of the day while the storm raged outside.

When the winds had subsided and the water had receded, the results were rather appalling. The college roof had been ripped in sections that had allowed a continuous down pour of rain into the buildings. Ceilings, floors, furniture and fixtures were ruined by the water. In front of the college, the roadway was torn up, but no where near as bad as the damage done in town and along the Coast as far as Bayou Caddy.

There is not a wharf standing from Pascagoula to New Orleans, all gave way to the wind and water. The L. & N. railroad bridges at Bay St. Louis and at Biloxi were knocked out of commission. Here at the Bay the trestle was damaged at least seventy-five per cent. At this writing, th bridge is completed and train service is expected this week. Our traffic bridge, altho not as badly damaged as the railroad trestle will be out of service for at least another week. Labor and materials have been lacking for the completion of the work.

The students of Stanislaus were dismissed for about twelve days while temporary repairs were made on the roofs. Lionel Favret and Company of New Orleans lost no time in making the necessary repairs to allow resumption of classes.

The thousand-foot pier will be re-erected on a grander scale in the very near future. There is nothing left of the wharf and pier except the pilings, most of which are out of line and partly broken.

Damages to the College and premises go into the thousands of dollars much of which is covered by Insurance, but there are many articles destroyed that carried no protection—the wharf and pier are two items upon which no insurance was carried. To replace the pier will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

Thanks to Divine Providence none of the students at St. Stanisaus was hurt. In fact, no one in Bay St. received any serious injuries.

FORMER AFRICAN MISSIONER ASSIGNED HERE

BROTHER CONSTANTIUS, S. C.

Brother Constantius, S. C., who has been for eight years or more a member of the Missionary band of Brothers of the Sacred Heart in the Uganda, has been assigned here at St. Stanislaus.

Before leaving for the Missions, Brother Constantius was a member of the St. Aloysius faculty of New Orleans. Since returning to the States, the missioner has related many stories connected with his work among the natives in the British Colony of East Africa.

In the next issue of the Rock-A-Chaw, we will have an interview from Brother in relation to customs and habits of the natives with whom he came in contact.

MANY NEW FACES GREET STUDENTS

Many new faces among the Faculty greeted the Stanislaus Students on the opening day of school. Before the end of the first week, both students and faculty were pretty well acquainted.

Brother Wilfred replaced Brother Robert as Auditor and Book Store Manager; Brother Roy was appointed Prefect in the Senior Division. Brother Ephrem still presides in the Little Study Hall, as does Brother Leonard in the Middle Study Hall.

The High School teachers are: Brother Linus, Vice President; Brothers Felician, Constantius, Reginald, Edmund, Alexander, Flavian, Foster and Brother Loyola who teaches typewriting.

Messrs Burge and Thames of the Coaching Staff are also among the High School teachers.

In the Grammar School division, Brother Briant has the 8th Grade; Brothers Walter and Fedelis divide the Seventh Grade; Brother Sidney, Sixth Grade; Brother Arthur, Fifth Grade and Brother Dermot, Fourth Grade.

Brother Flavian has the Latin Classes, Brother Leonard, Spanish, and Brother Alexander takes the French Classes.

The Clothes Room is in charge of Brother Cyrus. Brother Justus is the Superintendent of the Laundry and Dry Cleaning Department. He was formerly located at Coindre Hall, Hustington, N. Y.

COLLEGE AUDITOR DIES AT HOTEL DIEU

Brother Robert, who was auditor of the colloge for the past eight years, and also Book Store Manager, passed away at Hotel Dieu a few days after his Annual retreat.

Brother Robert was born at Indianapolis, sixty-four years ago. He attended St. Patricks School, then conducted by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart. At the age of sixteen he applied for entrance to the Brotherhood. He was sent to Arthabaskville, Canada where he made his studies.

During his life he taught at St. Aloysius, New Orleans; St. Vincents, Mobile, St. Aloysius, Vicksburg; Catholic High, Donaldsonville; C. H. S., Baton Rouge.

Your prayers are asked in memory of good Brother Robert who was so devoted to the students of St. Stanislaus.

CAMPAIGN FUND MAKES HEADWAY

Donations Are Deductible From Income Report

The storm damage and Scholarship Fund sponosored by Saint Stanislaus, through Brother Peter, has made rapid progress since the day of the storm, thanks to the several Broadcasting Stations in New Orleans, led by WWL of Loyola of the South.

Mr. Charles Logan, an alumnus of the Brothers School at Indianapolis, but now a resident of New Orleans, has been most active in this campaign for the raising of the fund. Our sincere thanks to Charley and his helpers.

This fund will take care of damages not covered by insurance, and will also be beneficial to parents who suffered great losses in the hurricane and who might be unable to afford St. Stanislaus.

Contributions are still being received for this fund. It is a most worthy cause. Our tax Counsel advises that you mark the check, "For Storm Damage," so it will be a deductible from your next income report.

ALTAR BOYS CHOOSE LEADERS

On the night of October 15th. Bro-Fidelis had an Altar Boy meeting where the officers for the year were chosen. They are as follows: President, Jimmy Holmes; Vice-President, Ray Sheehy; Secretary, Roy Gulotta; Treasurer, Paul Davidson. These boys will lead the Altar Boys through the year and arrange any of the activities for the Altar Boys.

There have been a number of boys who have applied for membership to the Altar Boys, such applications will be acted upon in the very near future.

ANCIENT LANDMARK WITHSTANDS STORM

(Jules De Barros)

Everyone who has ever attended St. Stanislaus will remember the little store on the corner, known to all as Planchetts. For years this little establishment has been serving the boys of St. Stanislaus candy, cakes, and novelties; not to mention temptations for the boarders.

Way back there in 1903, when Stanislaus suffered damages from the fire that consumed the old wooden buildings, Planchettes was unhurt. Later in 1909, storm ranged along the Gulf Coast causing considerable damage to the residents of many communities, and the college. Again Planchette's was passed by leaving everything much as it was before. The storm of 1915, as many who lived here will testify, was one of the worst that ever occurred. The money lost was too great to estimate accurately, and property damage, along with the loss of many lives ranked high. I may sound like I am repeating myself, but nevertheless here we go again; St. Stanislaus was ruined quite a bit in the 1947 storm, more than any other, but right across the street, on the corner, stood that lovable, quaint, little shop of old. No damage no ruin, nothing outstanding, except for the fact that it still stands.

In conclusion it is my firm belief, that no matter what may come Planchette's will always be open the day after.

NATIONAL EDITOR ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Reverend Ferdinand Evans, Editor of The Shield, organ of the Catholic Student Missions Crusade, spoke to the Students of St. Stanislaus earlier in the week on the object and work of the Crusade.

This organization is being directed by the Secular Clergy under the sponsorship of the Bishops of the Country. Its center is at Cincinnati and is at present being directed by Monsignor Edward A. Freking.

Father Evans said "this organization might be said to be almost miraculous in its inception for the religious money with which the present headquarters was built was obtained by means yet unaccountable."

In outlining the work of the Student Mission Crusade, Father Evans said further, "Every student can take an active part in the work of the missionaries in the United States and its possessions by prayers for the Missions and its workers. Study for the Missions; Work for the Missions; and Sacrifice for the Missions."

"At the present time stress is made on study of the Missions. The Central office sends out monthly releases on the work of the Missions within the continental United States and its possessions. The purpose is to inform all Catholic Students about the Mission Work of the Church. Thus, students become a part of the Mystical Body of Christ, and will exemplify the definition of the Holy Father as to what constitutes Catholic Action."

The Central Office does not accept any money for the Missions, this offering if made can be directed to any particular field for which the local unit dedicates itself. Father accented the idea that the Central office is merely to foster the study of the missions and its needs.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

SCHOOL spirit may be defined as that interest and loyalty a student takes in the activities pertaining to the school. We need cheerleaders as well as participants in the various sports, but no one is interested in listening to a talker, that is, one who tells us how good he is, but never seems to get around to demonstrate that ability or talent.

There is no medical injection known to any doctor that can give us the serum called Stanislaus spirit, it must be acquired by practice. Hence, let's get interested in the doings around school. Take an active part in whatever field your talents fall. Don't wait to be asked to do something—let people know you are living!—Walter Cleveland.

TO THE ALUMNI

WE are planning each issue to publish names of men whose addresses are not in our files. If you know or have any information, please send the address to Brother Edmund.

Plans are already maturing for the Old Homecoming Day, November 28. Naturally, we want all the alumni possible here for the occasion, hence, let's get the files competed. We need your help, drop us a line immediately.

With this issue we are enclosing a card for your convenience, if you wish us to continue sending the Rock-A-Chaw, please fill out, attach one dollar and don't forget to drop it into the most convenient mail box.

THANKS!

IN the midst of our efforts to regain the time lost due to the storm, we should pause to realize that we were extremely lucky. Both Faculty and Student Body emerged with no physical injury. Indeed, we should offer our sincere thanks to God for this wonderful blessing—an act which we are sure everyone has performed by this time. If anyone has been neglectful; time still remains to offer thanks.—Walter Cleveland.

Rambling Review

OCTOBER is the month of the Holy Rosary—do you carry Your beads? . . The Rosary is recited every day at Mass, how about joining us every day! . . . . The yard received a coat of asphalt just before the hurricane . . . guess the men will be back soon—who said the hurricane slowed things up? Just take a gander in the study hall any time, just to see the fellows hustling . . . and they "ain't" all writing letters, either . . . The band will appear for the first time this season at Pascagoula this week, they hope . . . The additional Bus is a super-dooper, looks like a regular Teche bus along the highway . . Our paper celebrated its fifteenth birthday October 7th. Rather a coincidence that Brother Edmund who started the Rock-A-Chaw is now Faculty Advisor . . . The team bowed to McGill last week end 19 to 0. Nothing to get discouraged about, just wait till we get some more practice under our belts . . . Boys have been hustling to clear up all vestiges of the storm, of course our roadway will have to wait for some heavy equipment to move the chunks of concrete lying about.

Mississippi Soundings; Facts Little Known

(George Land)

Did you know—that the Battle of Pass Christian was really fought at Bay St. Louis in 1814; that a Toulme pulled the lanyard when the Mississippi Volunteers ran away; that Bay St. Louis was once known as Shieldsboroough, named after James Shields who had the first patent on the land; that Bienville first explored the Bay of St. Louis naming it after the King Louis IX; that in 1729, John Law, of Mississippi Bubble Fame, gave the land near Bay St. Louis to a Madame Mezieres; that Pass Christian was named for Christian L'Andner; that DeLisle was once known as Wolf Town, in fact, it is still on Wolf River; that between the Pass and Gulfport there is a point known as Pitcher's Point which was never settled because of a superstition that Pitcher cursed the place some 200 years ago; that Jackson County was named for Andrew Jackson, hero of the Battle of New Orleans?

ALUMNI.

Berch "Feets" Wilbert is becoming like an old time Alderman, that is carrying the punch. Berch was here last week to get an eyefull of the storm damage.

• • •

Peter Paul Banville accompanied by Dave Kiefer were visitors also to see what was left of the Bay. Pete has a boy here in the first year high.

• • •

Elmer Breerwood, '41, was in last Sunday taking little Bill (three) around the school. Looks like a healthy specimen for a future Rock-achaw.

• • •

Brother Carol, '23, is now Principal of Catholic Hi School Donaldsonville. Here's wishing him every success in his new work.

• • •

Bill "Pinkey" Cassidy knew of the hurricane by experience, his home located in Metairie looked like a house-boat on the Styx.

• • •

Horace Kergosien, '22, lost his furniture store in the recent hurricane—everything went with the floor into the "drink." His stock was scattered from the Bay to Bayou Caddy.

• • •

John Bryan, '41, came over during the past week from the city to view the damage to the old home. Water rose some six feet in the living room.

• • •

Hugh Fitzpatrick, '14, is still very much alive. He was a prime leader in rescue work at the Pass during the peak of the storm.

• • •

Dr. George Sustendal, '31, is now in active practice in New Orleans. He was for several years Professors of Pathology at Tulane Medical.

• • •

Any information regarding the following may be sent Brother Edmund: Rorney Bishop, Enoch Autenment, John Bopp, Herman Bopp, Julian Brandao, Cyril Claverie, Vincent Ambrose Burns, Adrian Combe, Weldon Dalton, Elmer F. Hymel, William B. Jackson, Lee Petrich, Roland Rexach, Ralph Rugan, Billy App and John I. Soule.

With each issue we will publish the names of the Alumni whose addresses we do not have on file. Please, readers, help us out.

STORMY WEATHER SNAGS SIDELINERS

The initial meeting of the Sidelines Club was called the evening before the hurricane. Many remained away for fear of meeting the storm, while those who did attend could not be convinced that such a thing as a hurricane could possibly hit our coast—"not with a low tide."

Some twenty-five members attended the first meeting which was held under the chairmanship of Leo Ford, President.

Brother Felician read the schedule for the football team, then had Coach Burge introduce the football squad of 1947. Some twenty-eight youngsters were introduced to the members, and as Pete said, "We have a rather green bunch of men this year, but we hope to give a good account of ourselves in every game this season. We may lose some games, in fact, I know we shall lose several, but losses will not come about because we have not tried."

Refreshments were served and movies of the Tulane-LSU game of 1946 was reeled off to the enjoyment of all present.

Moody Family Interviewed

By Ruthless Crosstree

Ruthless found three verbs under an arbor covered with tangled clauses and creeping phrases from which dangled an occasional participle, gently swinging in the breeze.

"How do you do?" asked Ruthless politely, for he had a grammarian's reverence for verbs. None of the verbs answered him. "Gentlemen," he said "I'll leave you; for I perceive that you are moody."

"That's just the trouble!" exclaimed one of the verbs suddenly. "We are moody. I feel indicate, and my friends feel imperative and subjunctive respectively. It's very hard to be sociable with individuals who are not in the same mood with oneself."

"Be quiet!" ordered the verb in the imperative mood.

"If I were you, I wouldn't talk to strangers," said the verb in the subjunctive mood.

"See," asked the verb in the indicative to Ruthless, "I feel like making statements and asking questions. My friends here," (he indicated the rule verb) "is in the mood for nothing but commands. And this other fellow," (he pointed) "this fellow in the subjunctive—why, he can only languish and wish and sigh 'if it were' and 'even though' and 'as if' and 'as though it were.' In this mood he just doesn't face up to things directly."

"Well," said Ruthless, perplexed, "if your moods are so different, I can't see why you sit together here."

"Oh, we're waiting until we all get into the same mood," replied the verb in the indicative.

"But I wouldn't hold my breath till then if I were you," sighed the very in the subjunctive.

"For Pete's sake, shut up!" exploded the verb in the imperative. "And for you," he said to Ruthless, "go away and sit down."

"Yes, sir," mumbled Ruthless. "If you'll excuse me, I'll just amble off into the past." And he did just that.

STANISLAUS SODALISTS SPONSOR ANIMATED ROSARY

The Sodalists of St. Stanislaus and of St. Joseuh's Academy will sponsor an animated Rosary on the Stanislaus Campus on the evening of Saturday, October 25th beginning ot 7 P. M., to be followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the College Chapel.

This religious ceremony, which has gained great interest in various parts of the country, will be the first on the Stanislaus Campus in several years. The ceremonies will be under the direction of Brother Constantius, S. C., Faculty Director of the Stanislaus Sodalists.

The General Public is through this means invited to take part in the ceremonies.

BROTHER ROY MAKES MEN

By Jule De Barros

Brother Roy, the prefect of the big study hall has organized the calisthenic class for the boys who are not engaged in any other sport, or work.

The purpose of this crew, as I see it, is to make the boys of today the men of tomorrow. This in itself is one of the fundamentals of the United States, today.

Under the very energetic guidance of Brother Roy, the boys are sent through a rigorous, and contortionary half hour of beneficial exercises every evening. These exercises are designed to develop every muscle of the body, and in case you're interested, its a good way to loose some of that extra fat. These exercises will put you in shape, make you feel better, get back old vigor, vim, and energy you lost during the summer months! Only thirty minutes a day! Just think of it!

This isn't an advertisement, it's straight! We guarantee, in three months time, that these exercises will change your whole physique. Naturally, we mean for the better.

Another advantage is that there shall be no lost time—Brother Roy has assured us that there will be no disappointment owing to inclement weather of any kind; we shall have a nice warm Gym at our disposal for such contingencies.

After the exercises have been perfected, Brother Roy intends to hold basketball games, boxing, wrestling, weight-lifting, and tumbling. I am sure that every boy here is interested in one of these, and if not, we are open for suggestions.

Well, fellows, join us, and be happy at the beach next summer. Be seeing you!

WHAT IS IT?

(D. White)

So firmly built, with beautiful curves,
So extensive with its swerves
So firmly footed, with footing so small,
Unlike those of Rome, hearing Nero's call;
So attractively made that it catches the eye;
No matter where you go; on it you can rely,—
Its reflection is that of the evening sun;
We use it extensively for work and fun.
What is this work of art, of majestic state?
Its name next issue, we're sure to relate.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

8TH GRADE

Here we are , back again, after our doubleheader vacation. We find it "swell" to be back in our old classroom enjoying our arithmetic. Can anyone tell us the difference between square feet and feet square

Brother told us that the only figure with two sides is a circle. Yes, siree, it has an inside and an outside.

Some fellow tried to tell Brother that there are three kinds of clauses; dependent clauses, independent clauses and also Santa Claus.

We will close this little new bit by wishing everyone success and happiness for the coming year at good old Stanislaus. (Well, old anyway.)

7TH GRADE ROOM J.

Sunday, October 5, found most of the boys in our class returning to dear St. Stanislaus. After an unexpected but most enjoyable holiday of two weeks, we were only too glad to get back to business.

All of us, including our teacher, Brother Fidelis, claim to have the best class and classrooms here at Stanislaus. Plenty of pictures and class activities; that's our spirit. Our latest activity in class is a football recitation game.

On October 16, our real class football team played the sixth grade and won by 11 points, 18 to 7.

7TH GRADE ROOM F.

Top honors in class and department go so far to, Joseph Genna, Mae Hans, Donald Levy, Larry Scharff, James Selman and Alfred Canler, who have received a 100% average in all weekly reports given out.

Our three Spanish-speaking classmates who have come to St. Stanislaus to learn English are beginning to speak our language. Keep it up, Alfred, Jose and Carlos!

5TH GRADE NOTES

The recent hurricane did not seem to knock out the pep with which the Lord has blessed the fifth grade. In fact, it has increased with each day, and is expected to reach its peak when the team meets the sixth grade on the local gridiron within the next few weeks. Walter Kelly, recently elected captain, promises a stiff battle, despite reports to the contrary. By the way, Willis LeMaitre and Maurice Artigues were tied in the vote for assistant captain.

The spirit that each will display on the field, will break the deadlock for this coveted position. Vernon Bermond and Donald Engelhorn are bright prospects for the backfilled. A pair of 'Franks', Hille and Martinez will lead the line in thwarting the swift running backs of the sixth grade. They had better look out, for, if this highly talented material works in harmony with the undaunted spirit shown thus far—well, why go further? Let's wait for the day of the game.

4TH GRADE NOTES

"Yea, we may be small, but we're a tough bunch." That's the fourth grade for you. Just watch them play football. But never mind football. Take a peep in during class. You'll invariably see them holding their books in their hands. They seem to say, "look how well I pay attention in class."

But what's the matter with them? They like to stay in after school, instead of going out and joining their teammates playing football. How can they become players this way?

Well, that's one for Sherlock Holmes to solve.

SIXTH GRADE

Our class has already organized itself for our new session. Our elections brought forth a new president David Tucker, and a new vice president William Scarborough. The posts of secretary and treasurer were filled by Anthony Benigno and Carl Nunez, repectively. Eugene Watkins and Jerry LaNasa volunteered to operate our class library. Henry Eleazer, James Seghers and Carl Nunez were appointed to the entertaining committee. Edmond Aime was placed in charge of the bulletin board.

After a preliminary scrimmage of all those who wished to play on the class football team, the following were chosen: Backfield: Nunez, Melancon, Scarborough, Aime; Line: Hartson LaNasa, Schafer, Watkins, McLellan, Quiros, Tucker; Subs: Meyer, Ribikaw, Seghers, and Cretin one.

DICK THAMES ASSISTS BURGE

New Coach Has Plenty Of Line Experience

(By F. J. Ferrell)

With Mr. Richard Thames, the new line coach and assistant to Mr. Burge, the Rock-A-Chaws can boast of as fine a coaching staff as that of any high school in the country.

Coach Thames hails from Mendenhall, Miss., where he lettered four years in varsity ball for Mendenhall High. His last two years being captain of the team.

He added two more years of football to his career with Copiah-Lincoln Junior College where he was chosen as 'All State Guard," and was Captain of the team in his last year.

Still sticking to his native State, Dick Thames entered Miss. Southern where he lettered in '41-'42 holding down the guard position. In 1943, he joined Uncle Sam's Navy and served in the Pacific. In 1945, we find him playing his favorite sport, football, with the Motor Torpedo Base which boasted of such great stars of the gridiron as All-American Mike Hovalak from Boston College of Sugar Bowl fame; Lou Thomas and Walter McDonalds of Tulane; All American Van Goetz from Nebraska, who played against Stanford in the Rose Bowl of 1941; "All Eastern," Jackie Welch who scored both touchdowns for the Motor Torpedo Base against the great Army team consisting of such All Americans as Blanchard, Davis, Dewitt and Coulter.

On finishing his college career, he turned down offers from the New York Giants in the National League, and accepted one from Buffalo in the American League where he saw a lot of action in the guard spot. Due to a recent knee injury he was released by Buffalo and highly recommended for the coaching job at Stanislaus.

Brother Peter and Coach Burge couldn't have made a better choice than Coach Thames as he is well liked by all and will give the Rocks a tough and ready line which all foes will learn to respect.

MINIMS DRILL DAILY; TINY ROCKS PREP

Anyone who wants to see a close resemblance to a three-ringed circus should visit the Stanislaus Campus any afternoon after school from three to five. Some one hundred and some youngsters are all trying to demonstrate flying tackles, body-blocks, and the best method of making touchdowns—these are the Tiny Rocks, many of whom are working hard for a permanent berth on the 1947 model of the Fleas and Flies.

Brother Leonard is the major-domo of the whole gang ably assisted by Brothers Sidney and Arthur. These Brothers supervise calesthenics and scrimmages among these youngsters every day. At present the whole gang are divided into teams forming a league. At the end of the season, teams will be chosen from among them to represent the now famous FEA and FLY Organizations.

To date the following have shown a great deal of promise: John Caruso, Arthur Schick, Jerry LaNasa, Richard Woods, Gerald Kimble, Bert Steiffel, Buck Trehern, Vince Liberto, John Weston, John Selmen, Allen Geary. The above named have all been chosen Captains of their respective teams.

AS I SEE IT

The Rocks home opener with Notre Dame should be a thriller. The Biloxi lads showed a classy outfit in dropping a close 12 to 6 decision to a powerful Aloysius, Vicksburg, eleven. Our own boys have shown tremendous improvement of late and should be ready for a peak performance against the visitors. Here's my prediction! Stanislaus to win a close one, say about 14 to 12.

If the Junior Team is any indication, happy days are ahead for Stanislous grid supporters. The current team is blessed with many light, fast backs and a set of big, hardcharging linemen. After a delayed start necessitated by the hurricane, Brothers Reginald and Alexander are quickly getting their charges into shape for the season's opener.

• • •

Doc Blanchard, great Stanislaus and Army back, visited us this past month and passed out some helpful tips to our backfield men. Me thinks I saw a gleam of longing in Coach Burge's eyes as he watched the great "Doc" go through his movements.

The hospitality shown the football team during the stay in Mobile was excellent. The coaches and members of the team are loud in their praises of the Brothers, boys and supporters of McGill. They are all looking forward to another trip to the home of the Yellow Jackets in future years.

• • •

Did you know?

That, Wally Burns, versatile member of last year's squad, is now playing ball with South Louisiana Institute.

That "Slick" Morton, former coach at Stanislaus, is now head coach at Virginia Military Institute.

That Louis Mogabgab, powerful lineman from last year's varsity is doing his footballing for the Tulane Freshmen.

Congratulations to the large number of day scholars who made the long trip to Mobile to see the Rocks play McGill. Such is the spirit of a true son of Stanislaus. We hope that these ardent supporters will be rewarded by a smashing victory in the not too distant future.

Before I close I want to call the attention of the student body to our group of hard working managers. These boys put in a great deal of time towards making matters easier for the players. Hats off to George Shuman, Ed Landry, Paul Davidson and Roy Gulotta.

JUNIOR ROCKS PREP FOR TILT

The Junior Rockachaws under the tutelage of Brothers Reginald and Alexander have been practicing where they laid off from the storm. The first game scheduled with Our Lady of Victory, Pascagoula, had to be postponed because of the hurricane. This game will be played later in the season or as near a date as possible.

The Junior Squad is composed of first year boys who have had no experience in football, also some few who have been on smaller teams in previous years.

The Junior Squad is composed of the following: R. Ansardi, S. Assenheimer, Peter Brady, Nick Bruno, Jerry Callaghan, C. Daly, M. Dennis, E. Dupaquier, Lucien Gex, Michael Haas, J. Morreale, J. Egan, Bill Taliaferro, Tommy Hughes, Clarence Kimble, J. Ryan, Bruce Favre, N. Carnovale, A. Chiniche, Marion Wolfe, J. Adams, F. Dominque, B. Holmes, Cyril Lartigue, Chas. Chavannes, Hamilton, McClure and Davis. The managers who take care of the equipment of the team are: Roy Gulotta, and Paul Davidson.

The Juniors will play the Notre Dame Juniors, Sunday, October 19 at 2:30 p. m.

ROCKACHAWS BOW IN SEASON'S OPENER

In a delayed seasoning opening, the Rockachaws bowed to the Yellow Jackets of McGill, Mobile, last Friday night 19 to 0.

Scores were made by Adams, Rhomer and Stroecker in the first, second and third quarters. Two of the attempts at converting were blocked by Phil Kergosien, Rochachaw guard.

The Rocks threatened to score twice during the game. Once getting inside the ten yard marker, but bogged down, lacking the necessary punch to get into pay dirt.

With a bit of polishing the team will do much better than was expected of a green bunch of boys. The line bears watching as a corner. All gave a good account of themselves against McGill.

SATAN'S SACRILEGE

Jules De Barros

Lake Michigan rippled softly in the light of the beacon shining from the top of the Palmolive building across the street. A cool breeze, blowing through the open window, brushed her hair gently from her forehead. The headlights of Chicago's cars glistened below like so many sparks traveling in a wierd vacuum.

A flame sprang to life at the end of her cigarette. The smoke, streaming from her parted red lips, resembled the stream pouring from the mouth of Isis, Egyptian goddess of beauty.

Her body was tired, but her mind, wandering far into the past, feigned sleep. She crossed her legs and sank deeper into the soft cushions of the huge arm chair where she had been sitting for nearly an hour.

A large grey cloud covered the moon stifling its rays. At that moment a crack of light from the door shattered the darkness of the room.

"Is that you?," she asked, half in whisper. No answer came; only more light from the door-way.

"Is that you?" she asked again, turning her head.

A tall figure clad in eveniog clothes stood outlined in the light from the hall.

"It is I," he replied.

She raised herself from the chair as he approached. They stood looking at each other, into each other, through each other; absorbing the sight of one another.

"I knew you would come!" she said despairingly.

"I always claim what is due me," he replied, "Come, Hell awaits you."

"Couldn't—couldn't you give me a little more time?"

"More time?" he answered, "How would you like the end to come? Sitting in the chair? Taking a bath? Sleeping?"

"Please, please!" she cried, falling at his feet. "Let me see Chicago once more,——tonight."

A long pause ensued, then he spoke. "This is really a sacrilege for me to do this; but as I have considered the case, I see no reason why you should not see Chicago once more, for the last time, and your wish is granted. As a matter of fact, I would like to give Chicago a once over myself, so we shall go together."

"Thank you, thank you!" she sobbed. "I'll get dressed."

"Do you have any special place in mind?" he asked, as she closed the bathroom door.

"No," she called back to him, "but I guess we can make the rounds." As a second thought, she added, "Maybe we'll meet someone we know."

"I don't think that any of my friends will be around town, Er—certain—— circumstances. Business enagagements, and all that sort of thing."

The bathroom door was silent for a while, but regained its speech, and said, "I mean we could have a party, and make the rounds in a crowd."

"Oh," he said, "we can have a hell of a time, to be sure."

Again the bathroom door was silent, and looked bleakly out at the well furnished bed room. This time it did not regain its voice, but simply watched the man wander about the room looking at this and that.

The girl emerged from the inner room, clad in an expensive dinner dress, that gripped her curves, and stayed there. She was the kind of girl you dream about after a weekend at the beach. Her long blond hair glistened in the lights, while her deep blue eyes darted about looking for fun, and new sources of entertainment. The dress was on the mid-riff style, with bare shoulders, and high gloves. She looked very well in black, but she looked equally well in any other color, or style. In other words, she was beautiful.

"Ah," he said appraisingly, "my little flame is ready at last. I didn't realize, until now, how beautiful you really are."

She ignored him completely, and said simply, "Are we ready to go?"

"By all means," he replied, offering his arm.

"To the Bamboo Room!" she cried, happily accepting the arm.

BROTHER EDMUND RETURNS TO ROCK-A-CHAW

Some fifteen years ago, the Rock-A-Chaw was founded and placed under the direction and supervision of Brother Edmund. This year he is returned to Stanislaus and as it were [illegible] where he left off in 1935. That session was spent in Baton Rouge at Catholic High School. In 1936 he was appointed to Donaldsonville where he remained except for the couple of extensive trips made to Mercy Hospital, New Orleans.

At present Brother Edmund is assisting in the office. He is also active in the work of the Sidelines Club.

Again, we say, we are glad to have Brother Edmund with us for we are sure that with his understanding and encouragement, we will be able to continue the high standard of THE ROCK-A-CHAW.
